Seriously ! It's Quick-Pics 3 !

Here's the third edition of hand sketched visuals for you to practice, copy and incorporate into your own thinking and working.

I am so committed to helping people get clarity in their communication and build trust and loyalty in their teams - using visuals in communication can help in a BIG way!

I recommend visuals and visual thinking:

- To capture your thinking…
- To convey information…
- To visualise the future – for you and your team.

Keep adding to your vocabulary of icons and images that can accompany key words and phrases. And be innovative – improvise with the surfaces you use: whiteboards, flip charts, visual journals, note pads, Ipads, black-boards, windows, pinboards … and any other surface you can write on to communicate information.

Clear that 'furball' of complexity that gets in the way of people understanding each other. There is too much important work for us all to be doing. Spending time trying to understand each other stops us from getting the good work done. Communicate clearly and quickly and we can get back to the good stuff.

Turn the page, pick up a marker and get sketching with Quick-Pics #3.
